SUB-TREASURY STEPS.

The power Republicans will gain and the people will lose by it. Our party I fear cannot afford to be so stupid as to ignore the possibility of such an enactment. It may be thought that this statement is a mere repetition of the old cry that "the people may be forgotten that violence cannot be done in Congressional or State elections." But this may be forgotten that the whole lot of politicians will make the whole lot of politics. The distance from the brain does not lessen the sensation of pain.

I will not detain you to recount the details of this bill. The bill is so full of holes that it is in its estimation of all fair-minded men, a thing to be discarded as a piece of rubbish. But its sole aim and object is to place in the custody and control of Republican managers, the election laws, the ballot boxes, and the returning boards in every congressional and State election. Under its provisions millions of dollars may be spent at the discretion of the party in power, and millions more receive bribes from the party corruption fund could be paid for their votes out of the same fund.

With such sums of money and with the force of such men at their backs, the Republican States will be able to elect the United States Congress and the United States Senate. I say that there are honest men in the Republican party. The statement is true, but such men are few and far between. They are in the party only by complicity on such occasions; in national politics they are not to be counted on. They are in the party only to be used and then to be thrown in command. It is no use

The Lafayette Club Ball in the Tietken and Loretan to Monsieur Coudert.

The Lafayette Club held a mass meeting at 64 South Washington square last night to discuss the national Democratic ticket. This club is a Franco-American organization, and has a large list for Cleveland and Stevenson in November.

Mr. A. George was Chairman. Mr. Frederic Coudert was the first orator, and he made a witty speech in French that greatly pleased the Frenchmen. He discussed the tariff matter, showed that it was to the interest of the French to have a tariff on the American side. He touched on the pension question, and showed it in a light most favorable to the French.

After the enthusiasm over Mr. Coudert's remarks had subsided Judge Joseph L. Lynch, a well known French writer of the day, urged all the Franco-American citizens to support the Democratic candidates, and told the French would be the first to get out of French had failed to free this country.

The meeting adjourned at 10 o'clock singing the "Marseillaise."

A New Tammany Leader in the Fifth.

There is a new Tammany Hall leader in the Fifth Assembly district, in the person of William J. McKenna. Mr. McKenna was elected yesterday to take charge of the district organization in place of County Clerk William J. McKenna. Mr. McKenna was made district leader by a small majority vote of the district. He was the son of the old district leader in October, 1890, after the death of County Clerk Edward E. Kelly, and was re-elected to the leadership of the new Fifth district. Leader Kelly will hold the post until the end of the year, and the new leader of the district for 1893 may be Timothy J. Campbell.

gained an explanation. The men were compelled to pull down the transparency and rent the rooms to the Michael H. Wieden Association for a Tammany hall. The association was the association named John McAdams, he is reported to have said, had threatened to "make a party" in the rooms. The association was headed by J. Samuels, the club's standard bearer Sidney Livingston, and several other members. The men were not allowed to enter the rooms they found that the locks had been wrenching from the doors. The transparency was pulled down and the doors were opened. The club rooms. New locks were placed on the doors by Samuels and Hodes was cautioned not to return. Hodes and Hodes were cautioned not to return. Hodes at one of the new locks, and the Republicans left the house. Hodes promised to return to the house. The Tammanyites have engaged the same room for a meeting on Nov. 2. The Republicans are determined to return to the room to prevent them from using the room.

Five Men Exonerated $16,000.

St. Louis, Oct. 27.—About two dozen prominent local businessmen, in full suits, stood up to a summons dinner in a private dining room of the Tropic Hotel last evening. Each of the gentlemen subscribed $500, and another $1000, to the fund. The fund was not available until they were added, making in all thirty subscriptions of $500 each, or $15,000. The fund was to be used to pay the county in further the election of Cleveland.

D. Lyon, Jr., and James E. Ryder, who were the leading candidates for the Assembly in the Twenty-eighth district, were substituted in the Nineth district. The County Democracy city and county ticket was rendered perfectly blank last evening by the declination of Judges Glasgow and Cowing to stand as Democrats. The county Democracy candidates for Assembly in the Eleventh district, John H. Morgan for Alderman in the Twelfth, and John Morgan for Alderman and William A. Fanning for Assembly in the Twelfth, and John H. Morgan for Alderman in the Twelfth, and Owen McGinnis for Alderman in the Twelfth, were substituted in the Nineteenth and Twentieth Assembly districts.

"The withdrawal of the party," said Richard Croker yesterday, commenting on the withdrawal of the Counties. "is a blow to the country, not for Tammany Hall, for we are not interested in the party, but only our own interests had been at stake."

RECEIVED WITH HURRAHS BY THE WHOLESALE DRY GOODS CLUB.

FELLOW DEMOCRATS: Permit me to express my sincere thanks for this hearty reception. I will carry back to Illinois the glad news that you have given me, and will give it to Mr. Cleveland. I bring with me the names of names from South Carolina, which have been supposed in some quarters to be doubtful States. The people of these States greatly appreciate the peace and prosperity which have come to them since the war, and eight years ago, and now that they are free from the domination of carpet-baggers and freedmen, under which they groaned for so many years, they are turning beyond all doubt to the Democratic candidate.

Bringing you, moreover, words of cheer from the people of Wisconsin, Michigan, and—may I be pardoned for saying so—of Illinois, who are turning to the Democratic faith. I will give you, I hope, not their votes for the great statesman who has just been elected.

At this point there was a deafening roar of applause and the speaker sat down. When he rose to leave, he was greeted with a shout, and that the rest of the speaking which had been planned for him be dispensed with, and the meeting utilized for the purpose of electing Vice-President. Mr. O'Brien suggested that the meeting be adjourned until two o'clock on next Monday. The invitation was cheerfully accepted. The invitation was cheerfully accepted with unanimity, and then the distinguished speaker was escorted to the door and held an informal reception. The dry

CLEVELAND ELECTIONS MUST RUN.
 The Democrats Cannot Be Withdrawn in the Hayes Contest, as Proposed.

Dies Monday, Oct. 27. The question of withdrawing the Cleveland electors and substituting the Weaver electors was discussed at a meeting here of Democrats, at which J. J. Richardson of the National Committee was present. No conclusion was reached, except that such a withdrawal would, under the laws of Ohio, be impossible except by the instructions to Democratic voters to vote for Weaver electors. This would lead to confusion. The Cleveland electors cannot at this time withdraw from the ticket which was awarded to the Secretary of State. It is not believed the change will be made.

"Taxpayers' Improvement Party," and Nobbs is the Democratic nominee. Among the candidates are the addresses of the Presidential electors and the Democratic nominees outside of Long Island. The names of the candidates are printed on a nomination filed with the County Clerk.

The Republicans are after the Gleason nomination for the Democratic party of the county. Mayor Gleason filed his nomination with the County Clerk, and the party is now holding a caucus at elections of Congressional or county officers. The County Clerk has the duty of placing the names of the candidates on the ticket without any endorsement. But the party has no right to place its name on the party claim, and there is a possibility that tickets may be printed without the Presidential name. The names of the candidates of the party may be printed without the Democratic name, outside of Long Island.

The proceedings have already been instituted by the County Clerk to place the names of the Democratic party on the Democratic candidate for Congressman. The names of the candidates are printed in accordance with the certificates of the County Clerk.

For the time being the local fight is being waged in Long Island City has been transferred to Jamaica. The County Clerk has been extended to the courts. Hostilities, however, will be resumed in Long Island City tomorrow.
